

CBAI and Members Attend the Federal Home Loan Bank of Chicago's 2024 Management Conference

On July 25th and 26th, CBAI senior staff and many members attended the Federal Home Loan Bank of Chicago's 2024 Management Conference. Preceding the conference was a Partner Trade Association Meeting on Thursday the 25th. Association executives from CBAI and other financial services, as well as homebuilders and realtors trade associations, joined FHLB-C board members and senior staff, along with the president of the Council of Federal Home Loan Banks, to discuss a wide range of topics related to the FHLBs and its members.

Of particular interest to everyone attending this meeting were the next steps being considered by the FHFA in its Comprehensive Review of the FHLBank System at 100 initiative. The Bank's senior staff, the president of the Council of FHLBanks, and the attorney for several of the banks opined on what actions the FHFA may take on its own, what will need to be accomplished in formal rulemaking, and what they will recommend for congressional actions. Also presented during the meeting were an FHLBank update, a View from Inside the Beltway, a Regulatory and Legislative Update, and a discussion of other issues and concerns.

The Joint Trades meeting was followed by a reception and dinner which was widely attended by the members.

Friday's Management Conference at the Four Season Hotel Chicago featured an impressive lineup of speakers including the founder of Wikipedia, Jimmy Wales; best-selling author and purpose-driven entrepreneur, Jay Shetty; Ellevest CEO and Founder Sallie Krawcheck and the 70th United States Secretary of State Mike Pompeo.

CBAI looks forward to next year's Management Conference and encourages all its members to attend.
